

The QSSA June 10 Seminar

The Queensland Spatial & Surveying Association (QSSA) is proud to announce 'The QSSA June 10 Seminar' will be held in Brisbane and streamed live all over Queensland.

The full day seminar will be held at Victoria Park, Brisbane and offers a diversity of quality speakers. The seminar will allow attendees to learn about new technology, how various industries value and use spatial technology, develop both professional and personal skills, assist new start-up companies to problem solve, and network with peers.

'The QSSA has collaborated with a number of organisations, companies and individuals to provide a fantastic event which provides the opportunity to learn from respected people in the industry as well as collaborate and assist in solving real time problems through the Think Tank session' said Darren Medhurst, QSSA CEO.

The QSSA June 10 Seminar has an impressive line-up of speakers including; Ms Charmian Campbell, currently ranked number 2 female Action Coach in the world. Mr David Smith, entrepreneur, author and disrupter of conventional business models. Mr Peter Hyland, a qualified urban economist, town planner and a specialist in the area of property strategy and portfolio analysis. Mr Stephen Donaldson, surveyor and entrepreneur intent on harnessing technology to increase communication, decrease cost and streamline documentation.

'The QSSA has listened to the community and understand that many wish to gain more from the events they attend. Rather than spending a day just listening to speakers there is a requirement for a more interactive, diverse and dynamic style of event' said Mr Medhurst.

The QSSA June 10 Seminar aims to support the spatial community in Queensland by live streaming the event to professional groups in Queensland as well as live streaming the event free of charge to universities and schools. The QSSA June 10 Seminar will also have a live conference app which allows both the audience in the room and online, to post real time questions to the presenters. To further support the Queensland spatial community the cost for professionals has been kept as low as possible.

'The QSSA is a not for profit organisation with the aim to provide cost effective professional development. Costs for professional and personal development have skyrocketed over the last 10 years and in doing so made it hard for many to stay at the top of their game. The QSSA aims to reset the current trend and bring back the cost of professional development in the spatial and surveying industry' said Mr Medhurst.

'I am lucky to have a very experienced Board who have an overwhelming desire to give back to the industry they love. Having a Board that volunteers so much of their time allows the QSSA to keep costs low, avoid the need for endless internal task forces, committees and bureaucracy to ensure that the QSSA remains dynamic and return a cost effective support service to the spatial industry in Queensland' said Mr Medhurst.
